IN DEDICATION

We saw the strain in your face as you tugged and pulled at each of our mental blocks. We wondered at your worry over those who did not listen and often thought that if you could, you would force their ears to hear — their minds to understand. We smiled with your smile as the lessons became clear. And we grew as you shared with us the things that made you, you — a well chosen thought or text, a sincere prayer.

In your own special way you showed us that life, like English, is a very pleasant thing, once you learn to do it right.
Thank you, Margaret Plymire.

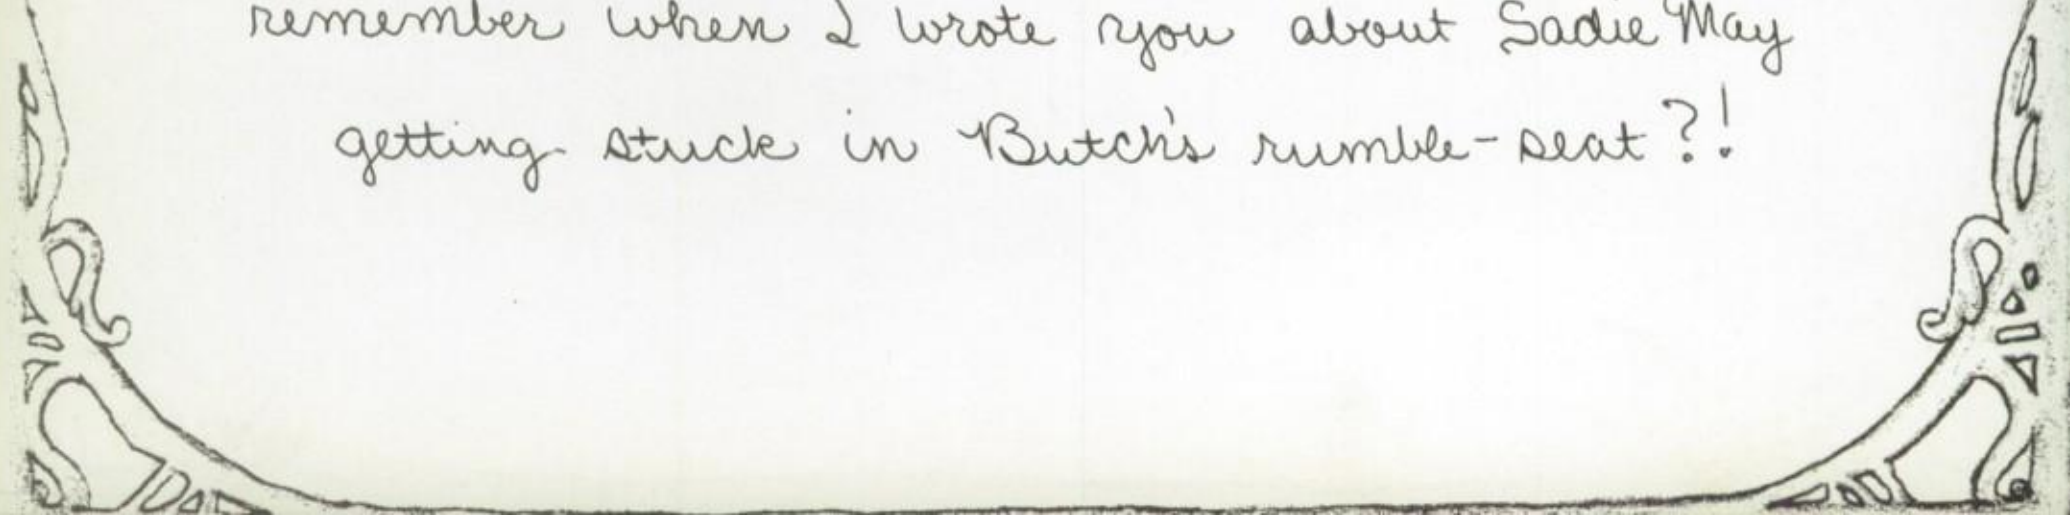

Dear Betsy Lou,

Well, the school year is almost over, and I'm not sure whether I'm glad or sad-maybe a little bit of both!

It seems that these past four years have gone by so quickly! I just can't believe that in a few more weeks I'll be leaving the school I was just beginning to know.

But I won't be going away empty-handed (hopefully not empty headed either!) I'm taking so many beautiful memories with me. There were the times I thought I could have burst with laughter; for instance, remember when I wrote you about Sadie May getting stuck in Butch's rumble-seat?!

Bow-wow!

and what about
the time we stuffed 19 kids into the telephone booth by Mr. McShady's store?!! and Stella Johnson's purple bobbie socks?!!!

What a bunch of kooky but swell pals I've got! Oh, the wonderfully happy times we've had.

Of course, there were the saddening moments too... when we cried and felt pain and were scared. When you could walk down a crowded hallway, alone. Or, when the tears spotted the empty lines of an English essay and it's the "night before". And the millions of other pressure, pressure, pressures that, at times made it hard to simply grow.

But the people. Oh, the swell people! The young ones and especially certain older ones.
Our friends. Many nights would have been much darker if it hadn't

Freshmen and their romances-stick!

and God. Always God.

It's gonna be hard to leave. I suppose I can always come back, but I won't ever really belong again. There's much, much ahead tho', and at least I'll always have my memories. Especially of this past year. I wonder if my kids will enjoy and appreciate their school years as much as I have mine. In fact, I wonder what school will be like in say, forty years or so. (Gimminy Cricket! These are the neat kinds of things that Poindexter and I talk about while sipping root beer at Mr. McGrady's drug store!) Well, anyway, I've got to run, gal. Hope to see you during the summer. Wowsie! Next year college!

Lots of Love,

Vivian

A MESSAGE TO THE CLASS OF '73

Most of you have spent a year or more at T.A. Individually, you have left your imprint on the school, and equally, it has left its imprint on you. I often hear graduates in their 30's and 40's say the years spent at T.A. now seem to them to have been the most important in determining their values, their respect for high academic standards, and their willingness to accept the hard work involved in achieving success. If this is true, and I have no reason to believe otherwise, we who teach here feel fulfilled.

May I suggest to you the consideration of this statement, "More men have been made great by crosses than by crowns." You are a strong class, and although rewards will surely come your way, prepare yourself for disappointments, too, for they may be the crosses in your lives that will make you great.

We wish every one of you every success; we shall follow your future with keen interest; we hope you will return often.

Your friend,

Seniors! Finally! After four years.
Remember all the good (& bad) times -
how 'bout our freshman year?

School ended at 12:30 because of T.A.'s new construction endeavors - nice! Then again, assemblies in Sligo's gym.

Now, what about the adventure
of a Sadie
Hawkins Party?

Oh, don't forget the car washes and washing ourselves more than the cars!

That was the year WE won the Candy campaign and went to Hershey for a day. Then there was Ingathering with pep-talks from Mr. Gibson.
Remember...?

Moving up in the world - Sophomore year.

Remember?

This was the year we started our "olympic training" running to Longbranch - and girls, when we got back - "birthday showers"?

Who could forget getting lost in a cornfield on the Fall Hike? Then there was drivers training for many - Sunday morning classes & the big, bad Beltway.

The one and only Computer Date Nite seemed to blow a fuse and shock the Sox of many, though some were pleased.

That was the first year of Varsity "Friendship Games" and the last year of Kirt & Wendell Chapel skits. Remember...?

Yeah Juniors!

Upper classmen now - hmmm...
Our junior year saw the beginning of pantsuits in our halls and Takoma Programs in our large gym.

"Interesting" classes included Psychology
from Mr. Blackburn & Mr. Nilsen's English, starring Macbeth.

And don't let our fabulous Week of Prayer with Elder Loveless slip your mind, or the banquet we gave the Seniors, while dreaming of being the honored ones the next year.

Being fitted for senior class blazers reminded us more and more of the nearness of our closing days at T.A.
Then the Seniors graduated, leaving us to take over. Remember...?

At last!

SENIORS -tada!

Our college Bible class and Mrs. Plymire will always be classic memories. There was the challenge to achieve.

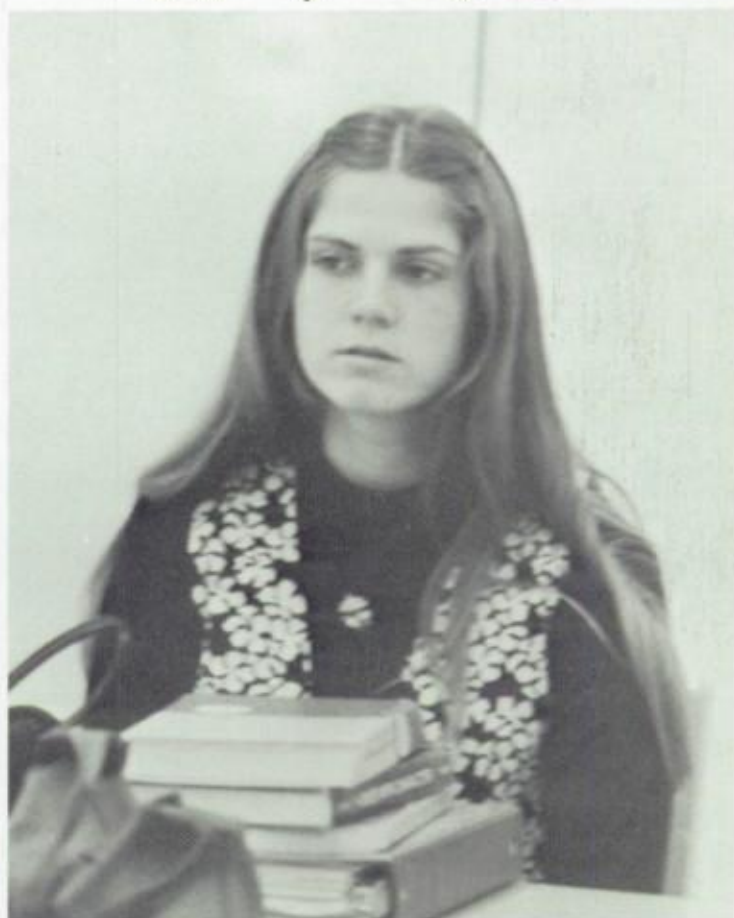

That was the year that brought National Elections and the "Be-on-your-guard-'cause-there-may-be-an-evaluator-around-the-corner-listening-week".

Last minute cramming for final, final exams...

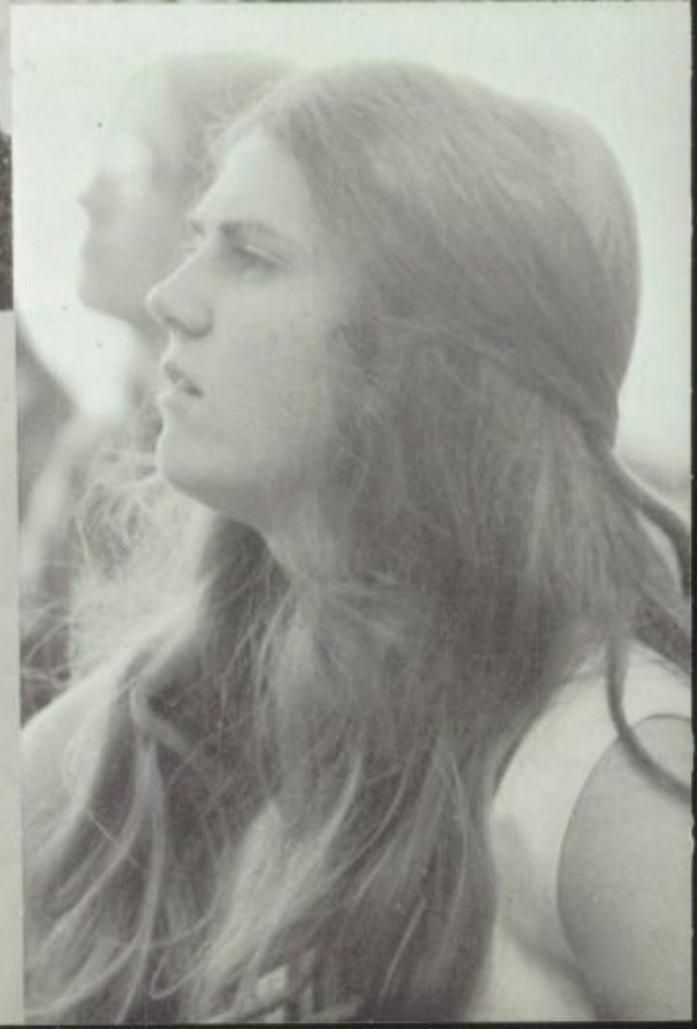

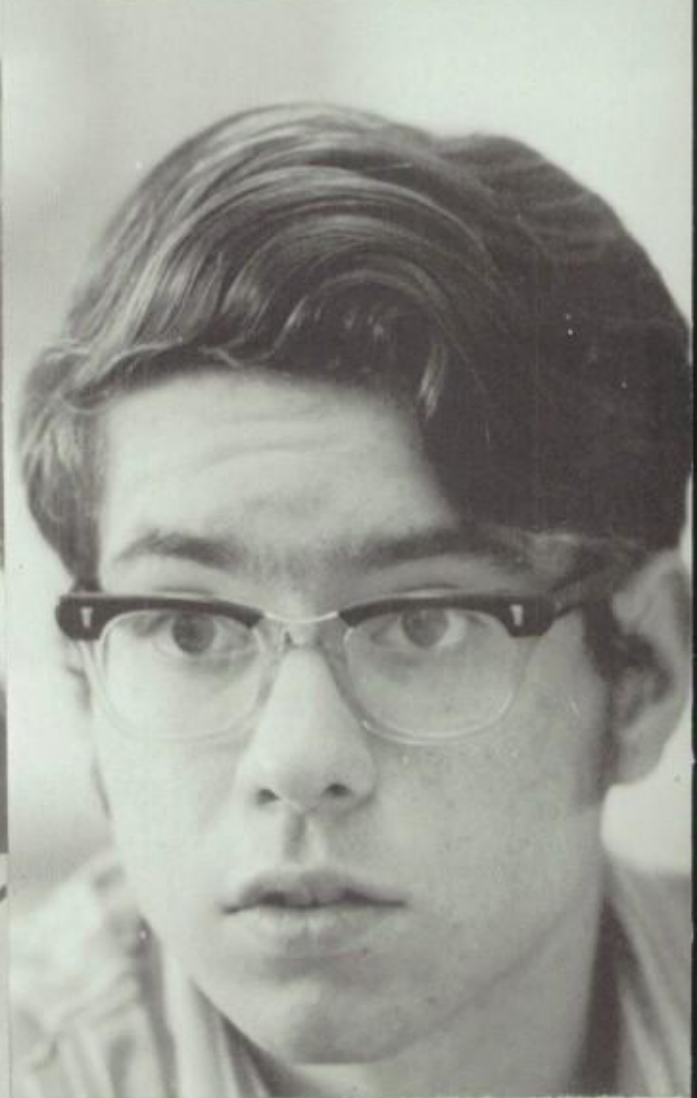

and,
graduation,
with excitement & deep thoughts and mixed feelings
of joy and sadness.

Looking ahead and at the same time looking back on fond memories. Remember...?

JUNIORS

"Three down, one to go!"

"Me. Me. Me."

"Freeman's got another idea. Look out!"

"Bermuda? I think we need a few more car washes!"

"My slide rule's stuck . . ."

"Double, double, toil and trouble . . ."

"How can I ever match this plaid!"

"What?"

"He's got a hold of the wienerschnidzel again!"

"MOOSE!!"

Surprise Candid

The automatic doors open and close with pre-determined efficiency as a weary trio enters and makes a final dash for the counter marked "Air Freight." A well wrapped and tied package is shoved across the desk at the unsuspecting clerk. "To Dallas, Texas, please."

Smiles simultaneously illuminate our worn faces and we know that we have met our final deadline. Soon the final product will make the return trip filled with the strokes of genius and last minute stabs at making a pictorial essay for the year of 1973 at TA.

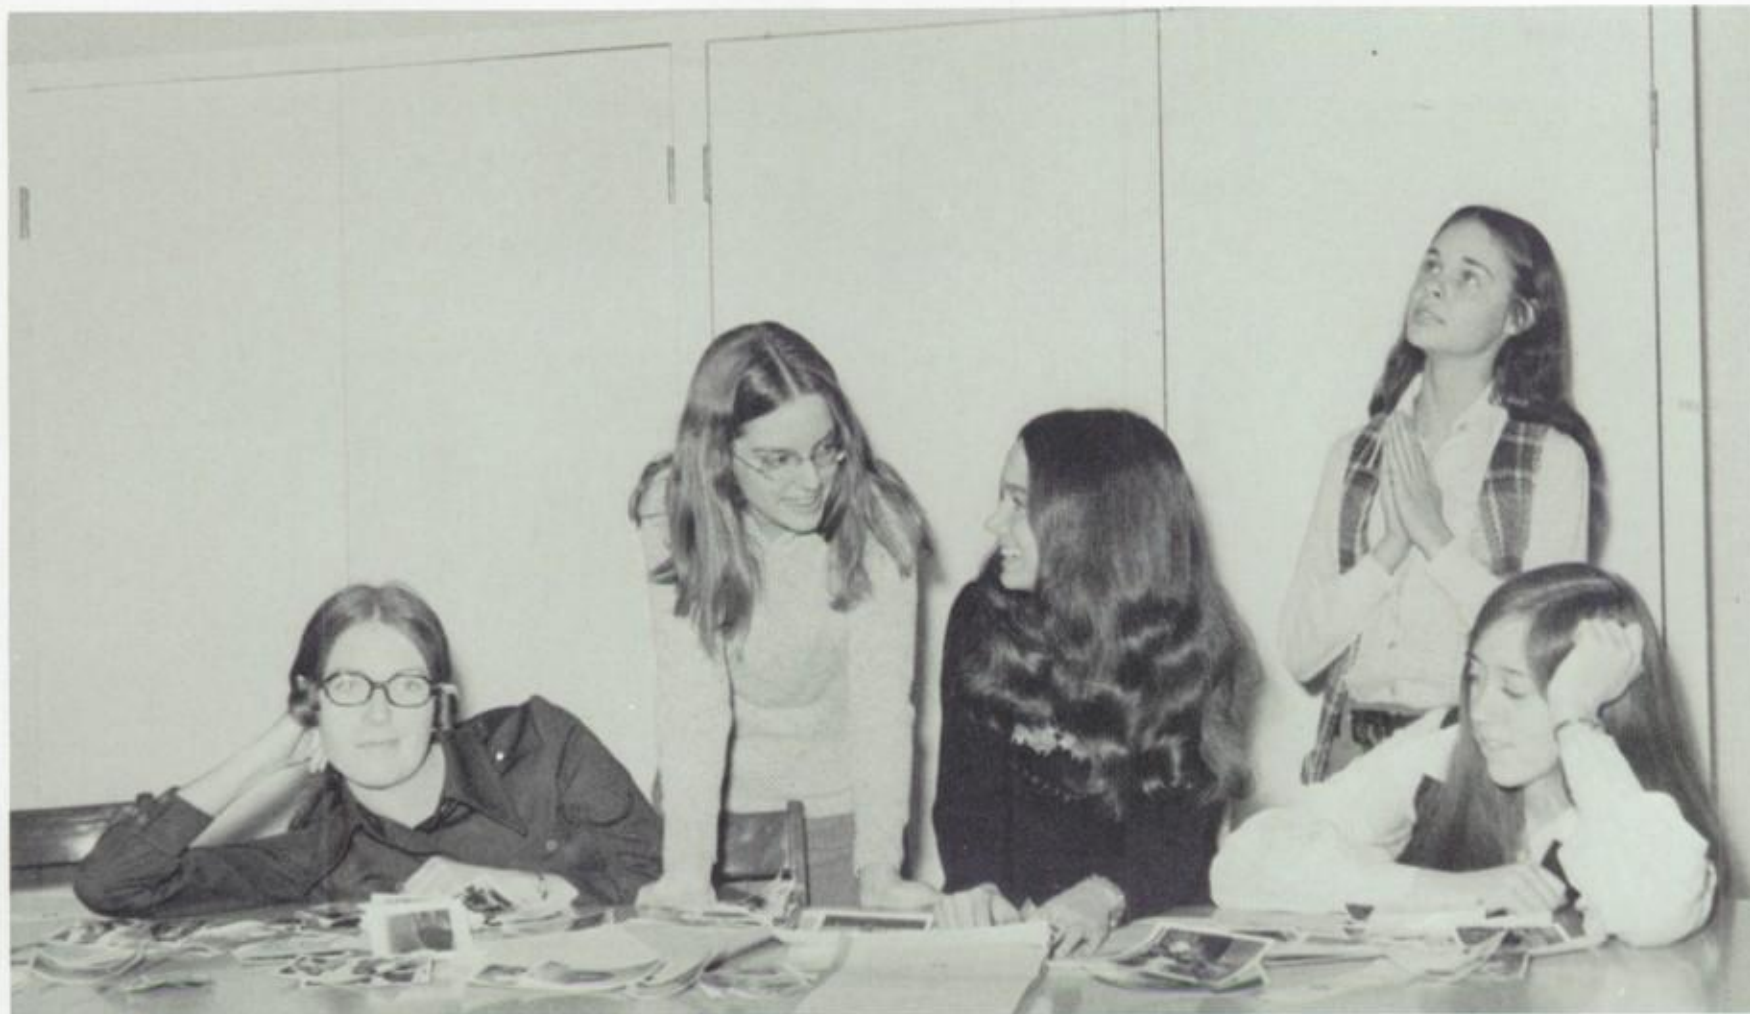

I am filled with relief that I shall no longer have to live in the eternal twilight zone of the darkroom. For each staff member there will be unique memories of this year and this yearbook. I only hope that each has in some way profited and known my appreciation for their sacrifices of sleep and sanity.

Sincerely,

A delightful evening . . .

The 1973 school year has run by, leaving us all at new places. Most will be coming back to T.A. next year; some will be heading out for new destinations. Summer stands like a golden monument among school years, a time to be savored at the beach, traveling, working, learning, and making new friends. With the arrival of summer, the 1973 school year is suspended as a memory. We hope that the 1973 Takoman will preserve some of the good times to be retasted in the future.

We Believe Education Is More Than A Game

What you do in school should make sense. What you learn in school should be useable. Reading, writing, testing and lab experiences should have something in common with the real world. At least that's what we believe at Columbia Union College.

That's why we see so many opportunities in our suburban Washington, D.C., location. There is a backyard mission field, a big array of hospitals, schools, community centers, mass media facilities, research laboratories and the world's best collection of fine arts activities and historic monuments — loads of opportunities for you to get a "no-nonsense" education.

And that's why we are re-thinking our basic curriculum and trying out new teaching methods. We are determined that going to CUC will be more than just going through the motions. We are ready to do almost anything to make it that way. We think you will like the feel of life at CUC.

Tiger or lamb: who makes the best CPA?

Men who move in flocks don't make the best CPAs.

The CPA often hunts for answers in wild new country. He's constantly trying to solve problems that have no pat solutions. He needs conceptual imagination and conviction — and guts. He may have to defend his answers (like a tiger) when he thinks he's right.

The demand for CPAs is growing fast. Whether they are in independent practice or part of the top management team of a company, they are taking on increasing responsibility in financial and business affairs.

You can select the college courses that can help you earn a CPA certificate soon after graduation. Or you can take them in graduate school. Ask your faculty advisor about them.

If you'll drop a card or note to us, we'll be glad to send you a booklet with the whole CPA story.

Write: Dept. A10, AICPA, 666 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Read it before you decide whether your answer to our question is "G-r-r-r" or "B-a-a-a."
